This is your newspaper. Write to it. Address letters to: Editor The Star, P. O. Box 648, Hope, Ark. 71801.

All letters must be signed, with address, so you are identified to the newspaper staff, but if the character of the letter permits we will allow use of a pen-name in the publication, in which case you should add "Citizen," or some other word below your real name and address.

Pen-names are permitted when a letter deals only with issues. Direct attacks upon public officials, however, must bear the writer's name for publication.

FOR CONVENTION

Editor The Star: I am writing this letter in regard to the dire need of a new state constitution for Arkansas. I pray and hope that the letter will reach the eyes of a majority, if possible all, of our voters who reads Hope Star.

The present state constitution was framed in 1874 in a period of distrust of public officials which reached an all-time high in Arkansas. Corruption was widespread as a result of post-Civil War reconstruction in the south, and the people of Arkansas were determined that it should never occur again. Consequently, the 1874 constitution emphasizes restrictions upon government and has often been characterized as a document of "thou shalt not's". Some of the restrictive concepts have been extracted and paraphrased in the form of the following "Ten Commandments" of the Arkansas constitution:

1. Free public schooling may not be provided at the kindergarten or adult education level.
 2. The legislature may not meet regularly more than two months out of every two years.
 3. The cities may not levy more than a five-mill tax for general operations, even upon a unanimous vote of the community.
 4. The governor may not be paid a salary of more than $10,000 a year, the lowest of any governor in the nation.
 5. Residents of cities and counties may not determine their own form of government.
 6. The governor may not exercise administrative control over the auditing department, state department, treasury department, state lands department, attorney general's office, game and fish commission, or the state highway department.
 7. The legislature may not call itself into special session.
 8. Cities may not levy more than a one-mill tax for maintenance of a public library.
 9. Persons living in Arkansas less than a year may not vote for the president of the United States.
 10. At a regular session the legislature may not submit more than three constitutional amendments to the people, none at a special session.
- The present state constitution resembles an old building which is in bad need of repair. A patching up process of the building from time to time will not get the building in good condition. Just like patching up the constitution with amendments from time to time fails to get the job done. Since 1880's, only 27 amendments that were approved by the state legislature were approved by the voters at the general elections. At this rate, with needs of a minimum of 60 recommendations for the better framework of our government, it will take to year 2208 A.D., or 240 years from now, to get our state constitution brought up to date. In the last 10 years the legislature made over 260 proposals for constitutional amendments, and only three were approved by the voters. That is a very puny batting average of only three hits out of 260 times at bat.

Pass the word around and vote for the call of the constitutional convention in the November 5 general election. Sincerely, GRANDISON D. ROYSTON, JR. (Great grandson of the president of the constitutional convention of 1874 and member of 1836 convention.) Oct. 6, 1968 City

Military officials say the enemy also apparently has been pulling experienced officers from his training organization in North Vietnam to fill out combat units in the South.

In the long run this erosion of the training base, if it is occurring, would seriously weaken the enemy war effort.

Last year troops sent down from North Vietnam got, according to prisoner interrogation, about three months training.

Now captured enemy troops tell of getting only one month's instruction before being put on the road south.

The result is that enemy units have been faring badly in combat, particularly since their minifensive of mid-August flopped dismally.

Enemy infiltration has dropped off from a high of 20,000 and 30,000 per month during the summer, officers say.

Military men believe the capital of Saigon, the naval base at Da Nang and Hue in South Vietnam's far northern reaches almost certainly will be targets in any new offensive.

A few enemy regiments are operating within 25 miles of Saigon, mostly north, but these are below normal strength.

Baltimore Tailor-made for Wallace

By JOSEPH E. MOHBAT Associated Press Writer BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A rally of some 10,000 people in a sports arena Monday night was tailor-made for George C. Wallace's intense campaign style.

There were just enough hecklers—a few hundred to provide a noisy counterpoint to Wallace's hour-long discourse on the American scene.

Although there was little of the scuffling that has marked Wallace's campaign in some Northern cities, police used dogs and horses to move peace demonstrators away from the Baltimore Civic Center after the rally.

But the third party presidential candidate made them welcome in the hall earlier. He blew kisses, thanked them for "bringing me a million votes" and lifted his admirers to high pitch as he warned the "anarchists" that "you'd better have your day now because after Nov. 5 you won't have many days left."

The Wallace detractors filled one corner of the balcony and shouted "We want Hitler!" and "Go to hell, Wallace," and they sang "We Shall Overcome."

Wallace clapped in time to the civil-rights hymn. He blew some more kisses, then cleared his throat into a large white handkerchief and resumed his talk.

When the Wallace supporters began waving their fists and shouting "shut up!" at the demonstrators, Wallace soothed them. "They're all right. Let the police handle it. Let's all be in a good humor now."

At one point the former Alabama governor stepped from behind his bulletproof rostrum and walked to the edge of the stage to smile and bow at the demonstrators.

The crowd had been warmed up for more than an hour with Country style music. The entrance of several dozen policemen in riot helmets brought the crowd to its feet. And a shouted chorus of "God Bless America" bathed the vast arena in emotion just before Wallace bounced onto the stage, taking quick little bows and firing snappy military salutes at the audience.

Although the heckling continued without letup, Wallace spoke at length over the powerful loudspeaker system. Even after an hour, he seemed reluctant to end.

At one point, he finally showed some irritation and shouted at the balcony: "Let me tell you little punks something: I was fighting Communists before you was born. I was fighting Nazis before you were born. I came back a disabled veteran."

Wallace speaks today in Connecticut and Boston as he continues a week-long tour.

chance in Ohio than if he had to rely on a write-in vote.

"The state stands shamefully alone," said Wallace's attorney, David J. Young of Columbus, in challenging the qualifications: a party primary and convention plus signatures amounting to at least 15 per cent of the vote in the last statewide election.

Charles S. Lopenan, chief counsel in the Ohio attorney general's office, said the state legislature is forbidden by the Constitution to impose racial or religious discrimination in elections.

But, he said, the legislature may "discriminate against the right of a voter to have a chance that his candidate win."

The Court is expected to rule by next Monday.

In addition to the unusual amount of business for an opening day, the court's first session gathered attention because of the recent fight over the nomination of Abe Fortas to be chief justice.

Fortas, whose nomination was lost last week in the Senate, was in his place on the bench Monday and took part in the questioning of attorneys in the Wallace-Ohio case.

The same was true of Chief Justice Earl Warren, whose conditional attempt at retirement set off the unsuccessful try at elevating Fortas.

In other opening session action, the court:

—Rejected an effort by Virginia's Conservative party to run Wallace for president on its ticket. He already is the candidate in Virginia of the American Independent party.

—Turned down a bid by supporters of Sen. Eugene J. McCarthy, D-Minn., for president to force California to put his name on the ballot.

—Similarly, refused to order California to place on the ballot Leroy Eldridge Cleaver, a Black Panther and presidential candidate of the Peace and Freedom party.

Promises to Be a Peace President

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey, pledging "I shall be a peace president" if elected, today proposed annual working summit conferences between the United States and Soviet Union.

Republican Richard M. Nixon, meanwhile, says as president he would seek a Vietnam settlement of both honor and generosity — but a settlement that would offer no comfort to Communist hawks and would discourage future wars.

And third party candidate George C. Wallace, spelling out his foreign affairs goals, says "I would not consider nuclear warfare at all in Vietnam. I would rather negotiate."

The three presidential candidates made their foreign policy comments in Washington. Nixon and Wallace addressed a United Press International editors meeting Monday and Wallace delivered a major foreign policy speech at the National Press Club.

Annual U.S.-Soviet summit conferences, Humphrey said in remarks prepared for the UPI editors meeting today, could become "forums for a new diplomacy, free of the publicity, free of the high expectations that surround irregular summit meetings."

The United States and the Soviet Union share "a special and parallel responsibility conferred on us by our awesome power, a power that must be used for peace," Humphrey said.

The vice president said he has no illusions about the difficulty of dealing with the Soviet Union. "We may fail," he said, "but we must not fail to try."

Humphrey said he also would urge the Soviets to call on North Vietnam "to start negotiating seriously," and he renewed his pledge to seek a Middle East peace solution.

Nixon said he would not increase bombing of North Vietnam as president and said the next president should stop the bombing when he is convinced that to do so would result in fewer American deaths, not more.

The Republican candidate said as president he would put more emphasis on non-military aspects of the Vietnam struggle and on training of South Vietnamese and would "broaden the diplomatic table" to include matters not now in negotiation. He did not say what the additional items would be.

Nixon said Humphrey is tied to a Johnson administration policy the Republican claimed has delayed an end to the war. He said Humphrey "will have it like an albatross around his neck if he has to negotiate in the future."

Nixon commented during an hour-long question-and-answer session.

Wallace said he would seek a negotiated settlement of the war but he said the United States should end a "no win" policy and press for military victory if peace talks fail.

He also said he would be willing to participate in a summit conference with the Soviet Union, said the United States should not subordinate its interests to the United Nations, and proposed an end to economic sanctions against Rhodesia.

Wallace also told the newsmen he would move 30,000 troops into Washington if necessary to stamp out crime.

"I don't care what it takes," he said, "this city is going to be safe."

presently are negotiated."

An adviser said Nixon always has contended that Vietnam talks could best be conducted in a context going beyond that country itself—to deal with other related problems in the area — and including other nations on both sides.

Nixon also declared that he would stand for a generous peace, but he did not go into details.

The former vice president got an hour-long briefing in New York City Monday morning from Secretary of State Dean Rusk. He reported that Rusk told him there was no significant change in the outlook for the Paris peace negotiations, but indicated it was still the hope of the Johnson administration "that they might be able to make some progress in the negotiations before the election."

Nixon later said that if Democrat Hubert H. Humphrey were elected, Humphrey would be hamstrung in trying to work out a Vietnam settlement.

He pictured Humphrey as one who has never criticized Johnson administration policy on Vietnam, who helped frame and defend that policy and would "have it like an albatross around his neck if, in my view, he has to negotiate in the future."

Tells About Politics

DR. EVERETT SLAVENS

Lions heard Dr. Everett Slavens Monday at the weekly luncheon at the Town & Country.

Dr. Slavens, a native of Missouri, holds three degrees from the University of Missouri and has been head of the History Department at Quachita University for the past eight years.

Dr. Slavens' topic was the Paradoxes of Politics. In comments on the three presidential candidates in the news, he observed that Mr. Humphrey, a lifelong liberal has lost the support of many liberals. On Mr. Nixon he spoke of him as a fighter, very positive on any stand who is now hard to pin down on firm commitments. Of Mr. Wallace he said that Mr. Wallace stated publicly things that many private citizens are thinking and want to hear. The paradox in his case is that Mr. Wallace campaigns on law and order while Alabama has a poor record in that respect.

Dr. Slavens is blind and has overcome great obstacles to attain his present position in the field of education. He has recently supplied the pulpit at the Presbyterian Church in Hope. The fact that the club had a blind speaker, who had done so much, on the day of the annual light bulb sale served as an inspiration for the club since the bulb sale is earmarked for aid to the blind.

Lion Arthur Winnell arranged the program.

hand, as one who has criticized many aspects of current Vietnam policy and "who will not be tied to the mistakes of the past, who will have more running room, more freedom of action, and can bring in a new team and a fresh approach."

Nixon talked a bit, too, about the kind of cabinet he would have—"a big league cabinet."

"I think the Republicans ought to have a little edge," he said.

LBJ Has No Plans for New Nomination

WASHINGTON (AP) — Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said today President Johnson has not made up his mind whether to submit a new nomination for chief justice.

Mansfield told an informal news conference after a White House meeting of Democratic congressional leaders with the President that Johnson had said he would contact him before he sent up any new nomination.

Johnson withdrew the nomination of Justice Abe Fortas to be chief justice at Fortas' request after a lengthy Senate controversy culminating in a filibuster against taking up the appointment.

"The President has not made up his mind as to what action he will take, but he has assured me that he will contact me when a decision is reached," Mansfield said.

Mansfield said earlier in the day that he did not expect a new nomination for chief justice at this time.

Two Accidents Too Much

BAKERSFIELD, Calif. (AP) — Richard Hinz, 26, escaped serious injury in a collision Sunday in which the other motorist, Roy Stevens, 48, was killed. As ambulance attendants removed the body, Hinz—standing beside wreckage of his car on the railroad tracks—was struck and killed by a passing freight train.

HELEN HELP US!
by Helen Bottel

DISHONEST PARENTS CHILL SON
Dear Helen: Last month my family and I went on a vacation trip and I discovered something about my parents I've never noticed before. They would go into every souvenir shop on the road and take items from the shelves without paying for them.

We would also go into restaurants, dodging bills by my mother's sneaky schemes. I am only a kid and I wouldn't dare steal a penny.

What can I do? I feel like the son of Bonnie and Clyde. --- DISGUSTED
Dear Dis: Why don't you tell your parents how you feel? If they aren't too far gone in dishonesty, they might just listen --- and reform. --- H.

Dear Helen: I was married less than a year. My husband is 25, and I am 19, so we aren't dumb kids. We got along fine until he started doing everything his mama asked. She never liked me, no matter how I tried. She told him all sorts of lies about me and wouldn't let me come to visit her.

We are trying to sell our house, so he said he would have the furniture stored. This included all my wedding gifts --- a great lot as I had three showers and a huge wedding. Most had never been used. Then one morning he packed his clothes too, and told me he was through. He wouldn't tell me why, except he was moving in with his mother. I found out later he didn't store anything --- took it all to his parents' home.

He has filed for a divorce and I am pleased, as I soon discovered I had a mama's baby for a husband. But do you think it's right that he keep everything, including the gifts I received from my friends and family? The house was repossessed, so we did not sell it. What bothers me is, if he walks out free, with all this loot, he'll think he can do it again to another little fool like me. --- M.A.J.

Dear M: A lawyer will see that you have your rightful share. Perhaps the mere threat of hiring

Why can't you control your memory?
A noted publisher in Chicago reports there is a simple technique for acquiring a powerful memory which can pay you real dividends in both business and social advancement and works like magic to give you added poise, necessary self-confidence and greater popularity.

According to this publisher, many people do not realize how much they could influence others simply by remembering accurately everything they see, hear, or read. Whether in business, at social functions or even in casual conversations with new acquaintances, there are ways in which you can dominate each situation by your ability to remember.

To acquaint the readers of this paper with the easy-to-follow rules for developing skill in remembering anything you choose to remember, the publishers have printed full details of their self-training method in a new booklet, "Adventures in Memory," which will be mailed free to anyone who requests it. No obligation. Send your name, address, and zip code to: Memory Studies, 835 Diversey Pkwy., Dept. 295-510, Chicago, Ill. 60614. A postcard will do.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

AP Television-Radio Writer NEW YORK (AP) — If network television's situation comedies come up suddenly with an epidemic of weddings, don't blame the script writers. It's the romance-loving public.

Several seasons back "The Farmer's Daughter," a pleasant show with rather unexciting Nielsen ratings, had Inger Stevens in the title role marrying William Windom who played a congressman. The day the wedding show was aired, the ratings jumped into the top 10.

When Betty Jo of "Petticoat Junction" married her crooked neighbor last season, the same thing happened.

And last month when "The Andy Griffith Show" turned into "Mayberry R.F.D.," on CBS, Sheriff Andy Taylor—Griffith's character—marched down the aisle with his Henel, the program attracted more than one-third of the 57-million TV homes and was tuned in by more than half the sets in use at that time.

The program, according to a Nielsen survey, was the most popular show during the week of Sept. 23 through 29, a period when both ABC and CBS were introducing their new programs.

The audience survey for that week of premiere shows indicated that the mass audience seemed more interested in watching old favorites than in inspecting the new crop.

Following "Mayberry R.F.D." in the top 10 list were CBS's "Here's Lucy"—new title for Lucille Ball's show—and "Family Affair," NBC's "Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and "Bonanza." CBS's "Doris Day Show," Carol Burnett Show and "Gomer Pyle," and NBC's Bob Hope Comedy Special and "Julia."

Only the Doris Day program and "Julia" are new series, but now that Andy Griffith will become only an occasional guest star in "Mayberry R.F.D." perhaps that, too, should count as a new series when later, more definitive ratings become available.

Ken Berry, as farmer Sam Jones, is an attractive young man who projects a kind of wholesome, shy charm. He plays a widower with a small boy, and is surrounded by the old crowd from "The Andy Griffith Show" and has even taken on Aunt Bee—Frances Bavier—as housekeeper.

The series remains warm and pleasant and can only be faulted for the predictability and occasionally the overenthusiastic use of a laugh track.

The "British-made "Averages", the last of the tongue-in-cheek superagent series, came back with the same outside, bizarre plots. On Monday night, the cool, clever team of John Steed and Tara King confounded some villains who had developed head cold germs to such a diabolical point that one whiff sent the victims into deadly fits of sneezing. Steed and Miss King—played by Patrick Macnee and Linda Thorsen—have such composure and irrepressibility with what they exchange wisecracks when she is dangling from a steam pipe and dead villains surround them.

Selfish Reason for Re-election

KANSAS CITY (AP) — Mrs. Betty Hearnings, wife of Gov. Warren E. Hearnes, said Monday she has a selfish reason for wanting her husband re-elected. "I'm just getting unpacked from four years ago, and I cringe at the thought of moving again," she said.

Belongings of the Hearnings family are scattered through all 27 rooms of the governor's mansion in Jefferson City, she told a meeting of the Missouri Federation of Women's Democratic Clubs.

The fellow who can keep cool at all times is the man who can afford whole-house air conditioning.

MRS. MARGARET ALEXANDER

Mrs. Margaret Alexander, District Extension Home Economist, Little Rock, will speak to the Hope Business and Professional Women's Club Thursday night, October 10, at the Diamond Cafe. Mrs. Alexander will discuss "Status of Women."

Mrs. Alexander is a native of Nevada County. She received her Bachelor and Master of Science degrees from the University of Arkansas. She has been employed with Farm Security Administration, Heber Springs Home Economics Instructor, Extension Home Economist in White, Stone, Cleburn and Ashley counties, and as State Home Management Specialist.

In all counties in which she has worked she has been active in church work and community affairs. She is a member of the American and Arkansas Home Economics Association. While on the county staff she received the distinguished service award from the National Association of Extension Home Economists for her outstanding contributions to improving family living.

Sheriff of Mayberry, Weds the Girl

NEW YORK (AP) — Andy Griffith, as sheriff of Mayberry, married his long-time girl friend on CBS's new "Mayberry R.F.D." and the half-hour situation comedy romped away with the top Nielsen ratings for the entire week of Sept. 23-29.

The so-called "fast" survey for the week, the first this season when all three networks were broadcasting their new schedules, indicated that the audience in the nation's 57-million television homes tended to turn to established favorites although it was the week in which CBS and ABC were launching their season of new shows.

Listed by Nielsen on the basis of a sample of 1,200 homes, as the 10 most popular programs were, in the following order, CBS's "Mayberry R.F.D.," "Here's Lucy" and "Family Affair"; NBC's Rowan and Martin's Laugh-In" and "Bonanza"; CBS's "Doris Day Show," "Carol Burnett Show" and "Gomer Pyle," NBC's Bob Hope special and "Julia."

"Mayberry R.F.D." is a transition from "The Andy Griffith Show" with many of the same characters; "Here's Lucy" is "The Lucy Show" with a revised format.

All new programs in the list were two situation comedies: "The Doris Day Show" and "Julia" starring Diahann Carroll.

Tigers Force Series Into Sixth Game

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer
DETROIT (AP) — Now that the Detroit Tigers have forced the World Series into at least a sixth game, Manager Mayo Smith has the problem of selecting a pitcher for the game.

The Tigers handed their manager the problem Monday by defeating St. Louis 5-3 and cutting the Cardinals' edge to three games to two.

Al Kaline's two-run single in the seventh inning sparked the victory, but there were other key factors as well.

There was a crucial play by catcher Bill Freehan on Lou Brock at the plate, Willie Horton's throw to nail Brock and a courageous comeback pitching effort by Mickey Lolich and his single that triggered the winning three-run rally.

The teams had the day off today, except for brief workouts — the Cardinals in St. Louis and the Tigers in Detroit — but Smith had to ponder Wednesday's game, which will be played in St. Louis. His major problem was a starting pitcher.

It could be Earl Wilson, who left the third game with a pulled hamstring muscle in his right leg, or if Wilson can't go, it could be Joe Spina, who relieved Denny McLain in Sunday's contest.

And Smith didn't rule out the possibility of coming back with McLain, the 31-game winner who lost the first and fourth games.

McLain pitched only 2-3 innings Sunday and said after Monday's game he would pitch Wednesday if the manager Manager Red Schoendienst of the Cardinals, on the other hand, has his pitching plans set, Ray Washburn, the starter in game No. 3, is ready for Wednesday, and if it'll be two-game winner Bob Gibson in the seventh game, — if.

Lolich joined Gibson in the two-game victory circle but only after surviving a three-run Cardinal outburst in the first inning.

"He pitched a helluva game," said Orlando Cepeda, who capped the explosion with a two-run homer, his second homer of the Series. "He got stronger as the game went along. He's a good pitcher. I can't see why he didn't win 20 games."

The motorcycle-riding right-hander settled down so effectively that he scattered six hits the rest of the way didn't allow another run.

He almost didn't get the chance to finish the game, though. The turning point for him came in the seventh inning when leadoff batter Don Wert struck out.

"If Wert had gotten on," Smith said, "I would've used a pinch hitter. But when he didn't, I figured Mickey had been pitching well and we had two more shots at them."

Camden in Win Over Hope B's

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

Gaining revenge from an earlier defeat, the Camden junior varsity whipped the Hope "B" Liards 27-6 at Hammons Stadium last night, holding the locals to minus 11 yards total offense.

In the loss, which lowered the Hope team's record to 2-2, Camden didn't score until the second quarter. Mike Morris slammed over from one yard out to set Camden up 6-0 with 8:51 left in the half, and ninety seconds later they were on the board again.

This time it was sophomore quarterback Ted Foyll taking a Massanelli punt, and Foyll merely galloped the 60 yards to paydirt. The PAT made it 13-0, and that's the way it stayed until Hope struck in the third quarter.

With 4:18 on the clock in the third segment, Camden fumbled deep in Hope territory, and end Simmons Smith picked it up with green pastures ahead. He hauled it for 95 long yards to his first touchdown, making it 13-6 as the point — after failed. Quickly the Panthers struck back, with Foyll firing a 35-yard strike to Chris Pickett for Camden's third score. The extra point was good to put the visitors on top 20-6.

Not able to gain momentum as they have in earlier games, the "B" Liards fell into the minus side on a couple of long losses dealt to Ronnie Massanelli as he tried to pass. Overall, Camden rolled up 112 yards passing to go with 88 yards on the ground, coming out to an exact 200.

Next on the schedule for the "B" Liards is a game at Prestcott next Monday night, as the locals attempt to break into the win column. That will only give them one night's rest from the Texarkana Washington game this Saturday where many should get to play, but they should be ready to come back after this loss.

Yesterday afternoon the team received the scouting report on Texarkana Washington, whom the coaches describe as underrated because of their good speed, size, and quickness. The Bobcats also watched a film of the Malvern game, a standard procedure on Monday afternoon.

To be sure, none of us ever pictured a 1-3-1 record after the first five games, even a few weeks ago. Now Malvern, who was this writer's upset pick to win 4-AA West, seems destined, barring an upset, to a replay of their championship finale with Fairview last year.

Last year it was Fairview pulling off the surprise 7-6 win before a hostile Malvern crowd, and the Leopards still see red when the word "Fairview" pops up. This year the rivalry moves to the Cardinals' home grounds, and it will likely decide who faces Magnolia for the 4-AA championship.

Getting off the high school subject a moment, it looks as though the Arkansas Razorbacks have finally come into their own and found themselves. Completely left out of the preseason pickings and given no chance to better 7-3, the Hogs ran their mark to 3-0 by overcoming TCU in their SWC opener 17-7.

Last week's 56-13 waltz over Tulsa boosted the Porkers into the No. 20 spot, and somewhere on this page should be the new poll, ranking them several notches higher. They'll get better, too, with a morale booster in Baylor this week, the Bears being off their usual spoiler form. (They lost to LSU 48-16 Saturday night.)

The one obscure thing that will make this Razorback team remembered is their tremendous depth. Both on offense and on defense, there is hardly any difference between the starter and his reserve. One could actually feel sorry for substitute quarterbacks Gordon Norwood and John Eichler, both of whom could make this team a contender in the Southwest Conference statistical sheet into a one-ring circus with the other members relegated to start on many college teams. What will win many ball games for Arkansas this year, aside from their intense desire and enthusiasm, is their perfectly balanced attack. The Hogs have one of the best running games in the land, but Montgomery has already shown that he'll pass you to death if he's in a hole. And the Porkers would have done better on a dry field at TCU, with slips ups on the wet turf foiling two would-be easy scores when receivers were wide open. Anyway, Broyles' boys will make Arkansas proud of them this year.

Al Kaline Hero in Tiger Win

By MIKE RATNET
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — Al Kaline, son of a Baltimore broom maker, is fully appreciating his first World Series and the key role he is playing for the Detroit Tigers.

"Things mean more to you as a man when you have to wait," Kaline said in the Tiger dressing room Monday after stroking the hit that made him the hero of a 5-3 victory over St. Louis.

"You never appreciate anything as much when it's given to you as you do when you have to wait."

And Kaline knows what it is to wait. For it's been 16 years since he started playing for the Tigers, and it's taken them 23 to reach the World Series.

"The Series has been everything I thought it would be," he said as he leaned against his cubicle in the dressing room. "I never thought I'd be so nervous before the first game."

But that's probably why Kaline is hitting .381 today, following a 2-for-4 performance in which he stroked a two-run single with the bases loaded that scored the tying and go-ahead runs and kept Detroit in the Series after they trailed three games to one.

"I always thought I was a better player under circumstances like a World Series," Kaline said. "The big crowd, all the noise. It's gives you that extra incentive."

During the season, Kaline seemed headed for a seat on the bench during the World Series.

Slowed by a broken right forearm and a serious groin pull, he had lost his job in right field. When he began to come around, a young trio of Mickey Stanley, Willie Horton and Jim Northrup blocked his return to the outfield.

"I don't deserve to play in the Series," Kaline said as the season drew to a close. "It's killing me, but I know what Mayo Smith is up against."

What Mayo Smith, the Detroit manager, was up against was a tough decision in which he had to measure sentiment against reality. When Smith was through measuring, Stanley was at shortstop and Kaline in right field.

Now Al not only is leading the Tigers with his bat, he has been trying to transmit to the younger players on the club the appreciation he has for where the Tigers are.

Kaline came up in the seventh inning Monday with the bases loaded and reliever Joe Hoerner trying to protect a St. Louis 3-2 lead.

"My biggest concern was not to hit to the shortstop for a doubleplay," Kaline said. "I wanted to get that run in from third."

"And he hadn't thrown me anything but low and way fast balls, so I knew that would be the pitch."

It was, Kaline swung, two runs were in, and the Tigers pulled ahead to stay. And, as Kaline trotted out to the right field at the end of the inning, he received a standing ovation.

"It made me feel good," he said. "Especially since I'm not a regular."

sideline performances. There's an SMU player stationed at the top of almost every individual statistical category following last week's round of activity, including a newcomer, Ponytailback Mike Richardson.

Richardson added a potent rushing threat to the Mustangs' repertoire by reeling off 167 yards against North Carolina State to take over the SWC rushing lead.

Richardson has rushed 58 times for 350 yards overtaking TCU's Norman Bulaich who is second with 289 yards in 46 carries.

SMU end Jerry Levlas caught nine passes for three touchdowns and 213 yards to add the scoring lead to his receiving advantage. Levlas has caught 29 passes for 473 yards and scored 26 points.

Mustang quarterback Chuck Hixson easily retained his total offense and passing lead. Hixson has completed 84 of 151 passes through three games for 1,023 yards and eight touchdowns. He has 1,031 in total offense.

The punting lead changed hands for the first time since the fourth game of last season, Texas Tech's Kenny Vinyard moved into the lead with a 43.6 average to replace A&M's Steve O'Neal.

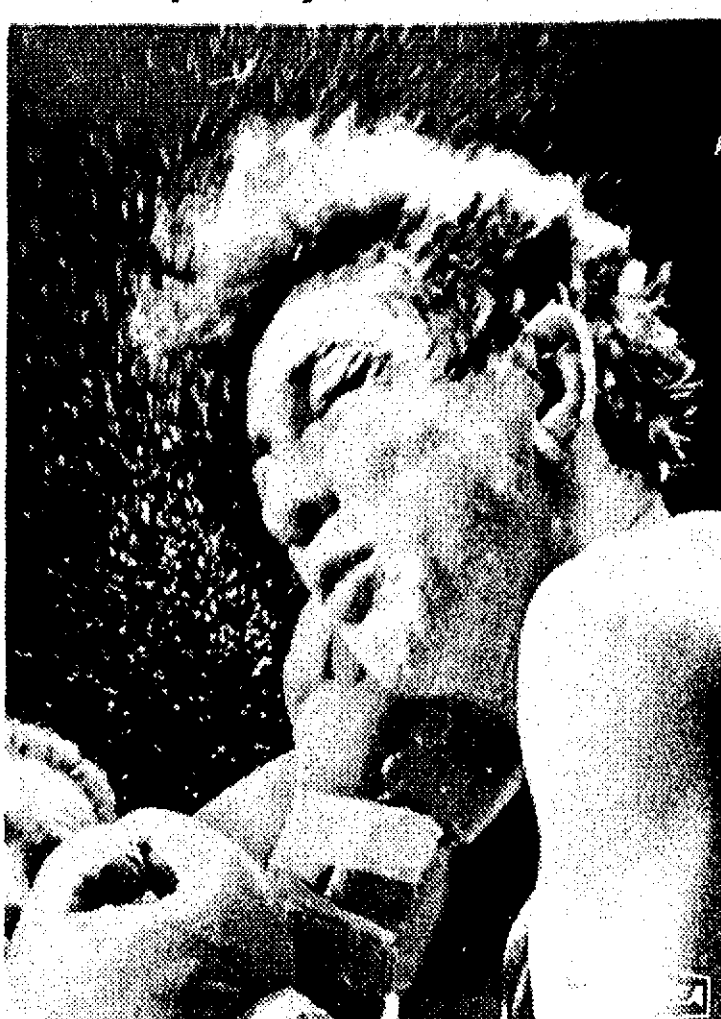

It was the first time since the fourth game in 1967 that O'Neal had not led in that category.

SMU's Jimmy Livingston picked off three North Carolina State passes to take the lead in pass interceptions with 5 and Tech's Larry Alford maintained his punt return lead with 10 runbacks for 224 yards and one touchdown.

Alford's score was an 84-yard runback against Texas, the longest punt return of the season until Baylor's Jack Allen unraveled an 85-yard runback against Louisiana State.

SMU continued to lead in total team offense with a 478.3 yards per game average. Arkansas is the total defense leader with a 300.7 average through three games.

Hot Springs Rated 4th in State Poll

By HARRY KING
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A glance at the Associated Press Arkansas High School football poll reveals the perennial powers—Little Rock Hall, Fort Smith Northside, Pine Bluff, Northside, Pine Bluff, North Little Rock, etc.

Right up there with all those big shots is Hot Springs, tucked neatly away in the No. 4 slot. The same Hot Springs that lost 22 games in two years.

Tommy Brasher is the man who has led the Trojans out of the football wilderness in three short years.

"Now, instead of everybody beating us, they're wanting to beat us," says Brasher. The Trojans are 5-0 and have outscored their opponents 125-6.

"We're playing with basically the same people we did when we went 0-12 two years ago," he said. "I think they have realized since last year that they had a good football team."

A victory over Malvern in the season opener probably helped convince them.

"I think that beating Malvern gave us a lot of momentum," he said. "You don't ever really know why you're winning. You just know why you're not winning."

When Brasher took over at Hot Springs he apparently had some theories concerning the Trojans' inability to win.

"A lot of boys quit us that first year, and it finally came to a point where I had to start practically all sophomores," he said. "To give them some experience, I played them twice a week. On Tuesdays they would play in the sophomore game, and then in the varsity game Friday night."

"In two years those boys played in 31 games, but the time was worth it," he said.

The idea of a winning football team has caught on in Hot Springs.

"In our two home games we've drawn about 11,000," he said. "We had 7,000 people at the Lakeside game. We put chairs up, stood them on the sidelines."

"It's kind of a novelty," he says. "Everybody wants to go and see what's happening."

It's been so long for the Trojans, the sweet smell of success isn't likely to wear off too quickly.

Hall, unbeaten in four starts, collected nine of the 11 first place votes and easily maintained its spot at the top of the poll.

Northside continues in second followed by Pine Bluff, Hot Springs and Russellville—each of which moved up a notch. Springdale, beaten by Northside, dropped from third to sixth.

North Little Rock walloped El Dorado 37-0 and advanced from a tie for eighth to seventh. Magnolia remained eighth and Camden Fairview from seventh to ninth despite racking up its fifth straight victory. Little Rock Central took over the No. 10 spot, replacing Pine Bluff Southeast.

Here are the results of the Associated Press poll with first place votes and team records in parentheses and total points at right:

1. LR Hall (4-0) (9) 107
2. FS Northside (4-0-1) (2) 97½

3. Pine Bluff (3-0-1) (1) 78½
4. Hot Springs (5-0) 77
5. Russellville (5-0) 59
6. Springdale (3-1) 53
7. North Little Rock (3-2) 49
8. Magnolia (5-0) 32
9. Camden Fairview (5-0) 23
10. LR Central (2-1) 16

Others receiving votes, listed alphabetically: Bald Knob, Bentonville, Conway, Fayetteville, Newport, Pine Bluff Southeast, St. Anne's and Sheridan.

Inspections to Take Some Cars Off Road

By TOMMY YATES
Associated Press Writer
LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A lot of the so-called junkheaps will begin disappearing soon from Arkansas highways when the state's compulsory vehicle inspection program shifts into high gear.

Those cars which trail a smoke screen thick enough to conceal an armored regiment will be on the way out, as well as those with headlights that glare off into the three as though the driver were hunting by them.

The crackdown on defective vehicles actually began last February, but it affected only vehicles purchased during 1968, new and used. Still, State Police reported that 292,000 vehicles have been inspected so far this year.

Starting Jan. 1, however, all cars are to be inspected annually but not more than 30 days before they are registered. The inspection program has become a little confusing since the Revenue Department began its program of staggered registrations.

Some owners received registration notices by mail during September and more will during October. Sgt. Dwain Thompson, assistant commander of the State Police Motor Vehicle Inspection Section, point out, though, that if a license is already in the owner's name, the vehicle would not have to be inspected until a year from now. All those registered after Jan. 1 will have to be inspected, regardless.

So far, however, the program is going fine, Thompson said. "We've got a few problems, but they are being minimized." Thompson said there are now 800 licensed inspection stations in the state and by the first of the year there should be 1,000 stations. He said it is anticipated that 1,200,000 vehicles will be inspected next year.

"We're getting great cooperation from the public on this," Thompson said, "and it seems they are accepting it real well."

The act authorizing the program passed by the 1967 legislature, and it saved the state from losing about $5 million in federal highway funds. The federal Highway Safety Act of 1966 provided that states must meet certain requirements, including automobile inspection, or they could lose 10 per cent of their federal highway funds.

The program requires the owner to pay a $1.75 fee, with a $1.25 going to the inspection station and 50 cents to the state. For vehicles weighing more than 8,000 pounds loaded, the fee is $2.50.

"The price of vehicle inspection and the repairs that may have to be made are insignificant when the safety of one's family is considered," State Police Director Col. Ralph Scott said. "It can literally be a life-saving investment."

To get ready for the program, State Police trained 25 of its men in the fundamentals of auto inspection. After completing the three-week course, the men were assigned throughout the state to supervise the annual inspections and to train up to 5,000 persons who will carry out the inspections.

Thompson said schools have been set up over the state and the inspectors are given a two-hour course. He said they will be called in periodically for re-schooling.

The penalty for failure to undergo inspection will be automatic revocation of the offender's vehicle license.

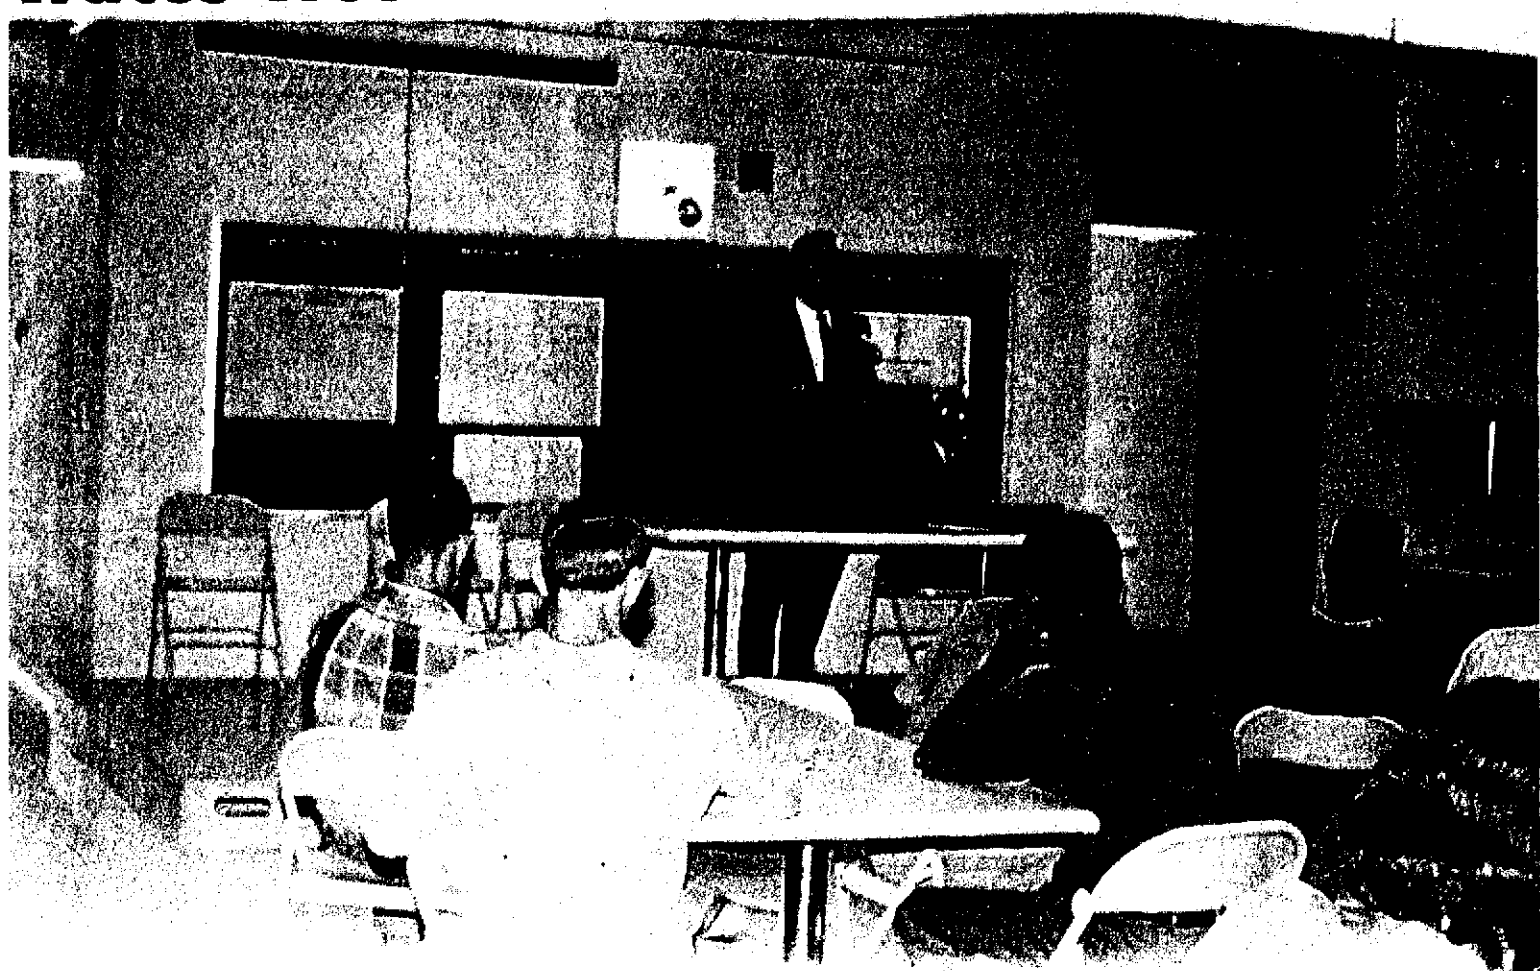

Items to be inspected include mirrors, windshield wipers, emergency brakes, beam indicator, stop lights, tail lights, reflectors, direction signals, tires, muffler and exhaust, wheels and alignment and headlights.

Exempt from the inspection are vehicles belonging to municipally owned and operated transit systems, vehicles manufactured prior to 1932 which are used primarily for exhibitions, trailers and semitrailers having a gross loaded weight of 3,000 pounds or less, trailers and semitrailers not for hire, and used primarily for hauling farm products and house trailers not operated on public highways.

Should a vehicle fail to pass the inspection, the owner can have it repaired and return it within five days to the same inspection station for reinspection without having to pay another fee. If not reinspected within five days and at the same station, another $1.75 will be charged.

This is the second try at compulsory inspection in Arkansas. The state experimented with an inspection program in 1937-38, but the public protested the in-

Shoats Play Texas Tech at Little Rock

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Quarterback Walter Nelson and running back Steve Hockersmith, two of the standouts in the Arkansas Shoats' 22-15 victory over the SMU freshmen last week, return home Thursday night when the Shoats play Texas Tech at Little Rock.

Nelson and Hockersmith were teammates on Little Rock Hall's 10-1 team of last year. Nelson threw two touchdown passes against SMU, one of them to Hockersmith.

It was the Shoats' first victory over the SMU freshmen since 1964.

Arkansas, which defeated Texas Tech 24-14 last year, leads the Pioneers 7-3 in the series.

Four Return to Lineup at A-State

JONESBORO, Ark. (AP) — Arkansas State University Coach Bennie Ellender said Monday four players who missed Saturday's game last week should be ready to play Saturday against Southeastern Louisiana at Jonesboro.

Ellender said freshman quarterback James Hamilton and split end Kevin McClelland missed Saturday's victory over Tennessee Tech but should be ready for Southeastern Louisiana.

He also said that fullback Pat Casey and tailback Bubba Waldrup, both injured since early in the season, would be ready.

Ellender also praised backup quarterback Wayne Crocker for his performance in ASU's 15-12 victory over Tech. He said Crocker "did an excellent job considering the circumstances."

Apollo Shot Expected on Friday

By HOWARD BENEDICT
AP Aerospace Writer

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — The Apollo 7 astronauts sharpened their flying skills in a spacecraft simulator today as rocket, spaceship and all other elements of the mission were pronounced in excellent shape for Friday's launching of this nation's first three-man space crew.

Navy Capt. Walter M. Schirra Jr., the command pilot making his third trip into space, Air Force Maj. Donn F. Elsele and civilian Walter Cunningham climbed into the simulator in midmorning and planned to spend several hours there. In convenience and travel delay and the law was repealed in 1939. This new program, however, is completely under the direction of the State Police.

Thompson used Texas' program as an example of how a program can reduce death rates. He said when Texas began its program in 1951, 19 per cent of all traffic fatalities were contributed by defective vehicles. When another check was made in 1956, he said it was found the fatality rate due to defective vehicles had dropped to four per cent.

"We've been working hard, long hours on the program," Thompson said, "but by the first of the year, we'll have an excellent program."

Indictments on New Smog Law

NEW YORK (AP) — The first indictment charging importation of automobiles in violation of federal antismog laws was handed up by a federal grand jury Monday.

The indictment charged that the cars, not intended for American sale, had been fraudulently imported as intended for personal use and not for resale, to save import duty.

The cars imported through normal legal channels are equipped with smog suppressing devices to meet federal exhaust emission standards.

Non-money Issues Bog Coal Talks

By NEIL GILBRIDE
AP Labor Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Negotiators, pressing to beat a midnight deadline, reportedly have agreed tentatively on the biggest wage and benefit gains in soft coal industry history but are bogged down on some non-money issues and contract wording.

Sources said the United Mine Workers Union and the Bituminous Coal Operators Association have agreed on an over-all increase of at least $2.50 per day for each of the approximately 80,000 miners affected.

But union demands that member companies stop buying coal from nonunion mines, and a dispute over how to control coal dust that the union says causes a miners' lung disease, were among the issues holding up final agreement.

Prospects were that if no new contract agreement is reached by the union's midnight deadline, the rest of the miners would join the strike already begun by more than 40,000 last week. Those men claimed the contract actually expired last week.

The bulk of the strikes so far are in West Virginia, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Kentucky. The union has coal contracts with companies in a total of 22 states.

Sources reported no great pressures for an immediate agreement because of adequate coal stocks above ground and the fact that the strikers have not been off the job long enough to be suffering economically.

The last two contracts, in 1964 and 1966, provided wage and fringe benefit increases of about $2 per day per man bringing current wages up to $27.25 per day for most miners, and $30 daily for top rated men.

The reported agreement would be larger than those two settlements, and larger than the 1968 agreement providing almost $2 daily.

The union is trying to make up for the period between 1958 and 1964 when there were no pay increases because the industry was in bad financial shape and the union allowed it to complete mechanization to get back on a paying basis, sources said.

The afternoon they were to attend a countdown review.

Meanwhile, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced that Wednesday it will roll to another launch pad the Saturn 5 rocket that is to boost the Apollo 8 three-man crew in December.

If Apollo 7 is successful, Apollo 8 may attempt to orbit the moon in a vital rehearsal for a manned lunar landing in 1969.

France is considered to have begun its history as a separate nation by the Treaty of Verdun in A.D. 843.

Mark Holt, Personnel Manager, Nekosha Edwards Paper Company, Ashdown Plant, presented an interesting program at the Red River Vocational-Technical School Holt traced the local tree through the processes at the mill to the final product. He reviewed with staff and students the requirements, personal and skill, necessary for employment in industry today.

Says Purcell Evaded Real Question

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Ed Allison, the Republican party candidate for land commissioner, charged today that Atty. Gen. Joe Purcell laid down a legal "smokescreen" that failed to answer all the questions raised by Allison in connection with a 1961 land transaction.

The candidate from Blytheville charged that state Land Commissioner Sam Jones illegally sold 152 acres to former state Rep. Paul Van Dalsem from $1.

Purcell, asked by Allison to examine the facts of the transaction, said Monday that Jones acted under the law in issuing the deed to Van Dalsem.

At a news conference today, Allison said Purcell overlooked the main issue.

Allison posed three questions which he said Purcell should answer so that the people of Arkansas "would see the true relationship existing between Sam Jones and Paul Van Dalsem."

The GOP candidate's questions were: "Did Paul Van Dalsem make application to Sam Jones in 1961 for an island in the Arkansas River and in the process misstate the facts and introduce false evidence?"

"Did Sam Jones issued a deed to Paul Van Dalsem in 1961 based on false information, contradictory evidence, incomplete documents and not in keeping with the statutes that Jones was using?"

"Does the 1964 chancery decree limit the guilt of Sam Jones and Paul Van Dalsem in any way? Isn't it true that the 1964 decree changes only one aspect of the case?"

Chancellor Richard Mobley of Faulkner County issued a decree in 1964 which said the land in question was not an island and never had belonged to the state.

Mobley said the land belonged to O. H. Stark and others from Faulkner County and not to Van Dalsem.

Allison contended today that Mobley "made an honest error in deciding that the island was not state-owned."

Purcell and Mobley had said the land was not an island, but had accreted. Allison said he believed a thorough investigation would prove that the land was an island and once was owned by the state. He said Mobley had not had all of the evidence in the case available to him when he issued his decision.

"Mr. Purcell has used the prestige and power of his office to mislead the people of Arkansas," Allison said. "He will not succeed because I believe the people realize now what has been going on in the land department."

Allison said he was attempting to determine what legal steps if any could be taken to return the land to state ownership he alleges once existed.

"Since Van Dalsem had no basis for ownership in the first place, he certainly could not appeal the case," Allison said in a reference to Mobley's decree. "Since Sam Jones illegally conveyed the island in 1961, he certainly could not do an about-face and appeal on behalf of the state. "Even with all the complexities of this case and the smoke-screen that the attorney general has tried to lay down to protect these members of the Old Guard, I believe I have proved my case to the people of the state," Allison said.

Leaders See Adjournment This Week

By WILLIAM F. ARBOGAST
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders see no reason why the 90th Congress can't adjourn by the end of this week.

Only President Johnson, they say could upset plans for members to go home by Friday and campaign for re-election. All 435 House seats and one-third of the 100 Senate seats are before the voters next month.

The President could prolong the session by sending another nomination for chief justice to the Senate, which failed last week to confirm the nomination of Abe Fortas to that position. The President withdrew the nomination at Fortas' request.

Senate leaders said they have no indication the President will make a second attempt to try to name a successor to Chief Justice Earl Warren, who wants to retire.

The current session started Jan. 15.

With the court fight apparently out of the way, Senate and the House sped up consideration of some remaining measures that must be disposed of. Adjournment fever was likely to hasten the action.

One of the major money bills, up for final Senate action today, is an $18.4 billion measure for the Department of Health, Education and Welfare and the Labor Department.

It already has passed the House but in slightly different form.

Senate and House conferees were drafting final versions of the annual defense and foreign aid money bills. Differences between the two branches were not considered wide enough to endanger adjournment.

The final money bill of the session, a sharply trimmed $101.7 million catch-all measure was on today's House docket. Opponents of reductions in funds for new housing programs and the expanded food stamp program were expected to try to get more money.

The bill has not yet been considered by the Senate but was slated for a quick trip through that branch.

Also on the House calendar is a Senate-passed bill to make it possible for presidential candidates Richard M. Nixon, Hubert H. Humphrey and George C. Wallace to engage in a television debate if they want to without giving equal time to other candidates.

One more major measure also is in the works. It is a compromise version of separate bills designed to control interstate traffic in rifles and shotguns.

Numerous less controversial bills are likely to move through in the closing days.

But it appeared unlikely that the nuclear nonproliferation treaty would survive the rush for adjournment. The Senate

Faubus Makes Wallace Talk in Carolina

COLUMBIA, S.C. (AP)—Former Gov. Orval Faubus of Arkansas said Monday George C. Wallace is fighting for the civil rights of all Americans, "Whether they are first-day immigrants or descendants of the Mayflower."

On the other hand, he said, those supporting Wallace for president of the United States believe "there should be equal responsibility for all and the same courtesy and good conduct by all."

"There should also be the same treatment for all citizens by our government," Faubus declared, "and as you know that is what is missing now."

Faubus addressed a Wallace-for-President rally attended by a standing-room-only gathering of about 600 in the Peppermint Building of the South Carolina State Fairgrounds. The rally had been scheduled outside but was forced indoors by inclement weather.

Back in the early days of contract, a young player named Oswald Jacoby invented the weak jump overall. The basic idea of the weak jump overall is to deprive the opponents of bidding room and make it difficult for them to get to the right contract.

Today the bid is in almost universal use in expert circles but the general public has not adopted it and probably never will. The bid doesn't always work, as may be seen from today's hand, played in a match point duplicate.

West's two-spade overall put a lot of pressure on North but he was not going to be shut out and came through with a three-club bid. This put some pressure on South also, but he responded nobly with a three-no-trump call.

West opened his king of spades. South ducked that lead but won the next spade. He knew all about weak jump overcalls and was willing to gamble that West held exactly six spades and no high card to get in with.

Then South proceeded to go after the diamonds and the clubs. East got in twice; once with the diamond ace and once with the club king but there was nothing he could do about getting to West's spades and South made an overtrick.

The weak jump overall had turned around and bitten its user. If West had simply kept still, or bid one spade, the chances are that South would still have wound up at three no-trump. West would have made the same spade lead and it is possible that South would have taken the second spade. It is far more likely that he would have ducked twice. He could not be sure that West held six spades. He would still have made his contract but his failure to make that overtrick would have left him with a good score instead of a top.

What do you do now? (Your partner's opening two-spade bid was forcing.)

A—Bid five hearts. Your partner has signed off but you are looking at a sound opening bid opposite an opening two. You can and should make a real slam try.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues to five spades. What do you do now?

Answer Tomorrow

has shown no inclination to take it up and possibly delay adjournment indefinitely.

Reagan Sues to Regain Tax

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gov.
Ronald Reagan is suing Los Angeles county for $4,748.
Reagan contends his property tax on two land parcels in Mailbox should have been $764.17—not the $5,512.24 collected by the county.
He paid the increase under protest earlier this year after the assessment appeals board agreed with a school teacher who claimed that the property should be assessed at $216,000 and $54,100, not $30,000 and $7,500.

The Smithsonian Institution's National Portrait Gallery has been established in the renovated Old Patent Office Building (above) in downtown Washington, D.C. The National Portrait Gallery is the only museum of its kind—devoted solely to portraits—in the western hemisphere and one of four in the world (the others are in London, Dublin and Edinburgh). Its purpose is for the exhibition and study of men and women who have influenced the development of the United States. The opening exhibition, which will continue through the end of the year, shows 168 paintings, sculptures and photographs under the central theme "This New Man: A Discourse in Portraits." Portraits are grouped in reply to the question, "What is the American?" Three answers, according to the exhibition, are humorist Will Rogers, movie idol Jean Harlow and explorer Meriwether Lewis of Lewis and Clark fame.

DOCTOR'S MAILBAG

Weigh X-Ray Dangers Against Their Benefits

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Although earlier U.S. Public Health Service predictions indicated that influenza would not be a serious problem this year, an outbreak of a new strain of Asian influenza has been reported in San Diego, Calif. A vaccine to combat this strain will not be generally available until mid-November. Health authorities are, however, urging pregnant women, persons over 65 and persons who have such chronic illnesses as rheumatic heart disease, hardening of the arteries, high blood pressure, asthma, emphysema, cystic fibrosis or tuberculosis to be vaccinated at once with any type of influenza vaccine that is now in stock and re-vaccinated when the new vaccine is ready.

Q—Is it harmful to have a chest X ray taken twice within one month?

A—Having two chest X rays in one month would not be harmful but having two every month might be.

Q—I am a housewife. After a fall, I had X rays taken of my lower spine. Some of them had to be repeated. There were about 13 in all. Would this cause any lasting injury?

A—The dangers from radiation must always be weighed against the benefits to be expected. The greatest danger from having so many exposures to your lower spine would be possible damage to the reproductive cells in your ovaries. If you are past the child-bearing age, this would not be important.

Q—My brother had a malignant spot on his nose treated with X ray over 30 years ago. Now he has scar tissue caused by too much X ray. It is spreading and is very tender. What do you advise?

A—Extensive treatment with X rays usually results in some scarring. Any signs of activity or tenderness in such a scar would call for prompt examination to determine whether there is a return of the cancer. Whatever the cause, steps should be taken to correct it.

Q—When I was two months pregnant, my doctor prescribed Ritalin, which I took for only two weeks. The doctor and I were both unaware that this drug was harmful to my baby? Are Surbex and Sinutabs harmful if taken during pregnancy?

A—All drugs should be held to a minimum during pregnancy but there is no reason to suspect that methylphenidate (Ritalin) taken for two weeks in moderate amounts would endanger your baby. Surbex is a multivitamin preparation that can be safely taken during pregnancy if needed. Although Sinutabs are relatively harmless, they should not be taken regularly at any time and not at all during pregnancy. They contain phenacetin, which may cause destruction of the red blood cells in the fetus.

A husband cannot wait to make his charges until the years dim the proofs to the contrary."

Like most lawsuits, a divorce suit too long delayed may be barred automatically by a state's statute of limitations. But even if there is no automatic bar, courts are usually skeptical of divorce suits in which the complaining spouse has postponed action for an excessive period of time.

One reason, mentioned above, is the problem of evidence—of dredging facts out of a distant past. Another reason is the feeling that a grievance, if acted upon so slowly, could not have been too serious in the first place.

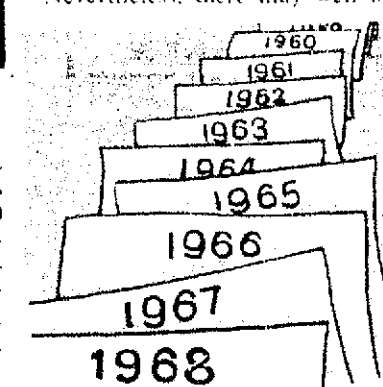

This woman failed to convince the court that two blows by her husband, inflicted 40 years before,

Slow Motion Divorce

had ruined her marriage. "There must be some limit to judicial credulity," said the judge. "We think it has been reached here."

Nevertheless, there may well be a legitimate reason for delay. For example, a man who put off a divorce suit for a number of years, after learning of his wife's infidelity, gave an excuse that satisfied the court: he wanted to spare his young children from scandal as long as he could.

In another case a husband was held justified in waiting gallantly, before suing for divorce, while his wife recovered from a severe illness.

Perhaps the best reason for delay is that the wronged spouse continues to have hope that the marriage may yet be preserved.

Thus, a court found no fault with a man who waited seven years—counting hours of a reconciliation—before finally seeking a divorce on grounds of marital cruelty. The court felt it would be unfair to blame him for wanting what the law itself encourages: the saving of the marriage.

operated by processors and distributors in delivering milk products of various dairy products to retailers whose total purchases of milk products or frozen dairy products are less than the average quantity of such products purchased by licensed retailers in the marketing area.

SECTION 2. COMMISSION HAS AUTHORITY AS TO PRICE FILINGS

For any frozen dairy product for which the Commission has not established the Commission under this Act and any other frozen product which is sold primarily by processors to processors and distributors to file with the Commission the uniform wholesale price for each such product and to file by each such licensee within each distribution marketing area.

The Commission shall prescribe the manner in which and the date on which initial price filings shall be made within each area by processors and distributors and the manner in which such area. The Commission shall also prescribe the procedure to be followed by processors and distributors in making their initial price filings. Such supplemental or amended price filings shall be made by processors and distributors before the first day of the month such filing becomes effective. All such price filings shall be available at the offices of the Commission for inspection by any licensee.

...measures with such retailers and in ing area as are specified in his ended filing. When a processor distributor files a lower price for the purpose of meeting competition, such price shall be the uniform wholesale price for that processor or distributor and shall be specified and for all retail locations in the area, if any, specified the processor or distributor in his ended filing.

The Commission may require that the uniform price filed by a processor for distribution marketing area shall automatically be applicable to sales by distributors of that processor's products within such area.

Unless a price required to be filed in this Section is filed for the purpose

Under this Section any price for a distribution marketing area which is less than the price which such processor or distributor has on file for the distribution of such product in its principal place of business is prohibited. Processors and distributors are prohibited from filing a price under this Section which is less than the cost of such processor or distributor. The Commission shall define the term "cost," and shall also promulgate rules for the provision of Section of this Act. The provisions of such regulations are as necessary to implement the prohibition contained in this subsection.

...the price of which has not been established by the commission, a processor or distributor may offer to sell such product to an institution at a price which shall not be lower than the lowest price for such product in the distribution marketing area, even though such price is lower than the filed price of the processor making such offer.

SECTION 10—PROHIBITION AGAINST SALES OF MILK PRODUCTS, FROZEN DAIRY PRODUCTS, AND OTHER FROZEN PRODUCTS BELOW MINIMUM PRICES OR AT VARIANCE FROM FILED PRICES

GENERAL PROHIBITION

No dairy salesperson, processor, processor or retailer shall sell milk products or frozen dairy products at less than the minimum prices established by the Commission pursuant to this Act for such milk products and frozen dairy products.

(b) Processor or distributor shall sell frozen dairy product, or any other product customarily sold by processors or retailers, at a price which varies from the minimum price product which processor or distributor has sold through the Commission pursuant to the requirements of Section 9 of this Act. Distributor or retailer shall purchase such product at a price which varies the use of any method, device or transaction intended to accomplish, or having the effect of accomplishing, the sale or attempted sale or the purchase or attempted purchase of milk products and frozen dairy products at less than the minimum price established by the Commission pursuant to this Act for sale of such milk products and frozen dairy without the price requirements of the Commission, including those provided in the schedule in force at the time of the sale, or which would have the effect of substantially undermining the effectiveness of such price requirements, shall be prohibited or regulated by the Commission, whether by direct, indirect, device or transaction approach, as applied to the milk product or any other product, sold, or purchased, or otherwise used in connection with the handling of any other product, commodity, article, or service. The Commission shall, subject to the requirements of the preceding paragraph, permit or regulate each of the following practices:

(1) The giving of discounts, rates or allowances, unless such discounts or allowances are authorised by this Act or by the Commission, or unless such discount or allowance relates to a transaction as to which no pricing requirement of the Commission is applicable.

of this Act. This provision shall not be interpreted as prohibiting the temporary placement of refrigerated display cases on the premises of a processor upon the premises of a retailer for purposes of promoting the sale of milk products or frozen dairy products processed or manufactured by the processor, as such promotional activity may be authorized and regulated by the Commission. It shall be a further violation to interpret this provision as prohibiting the placement of such display cases by a processor or a distributor of the dairy case or frozen dairy prod-

- (3) The giving or advertising or display of bounties.
- (4) The giving of a free milk product or a free frozen dairy product to a customer unless authorized by the Commission as a reasonable sampling or demonstration activity.
- (5) The making or renewal of loans, or the giving of financial assistance in any other form, to a processor or distributor to a retailer.
- (6) The extension by a processor or distributor to a retailer of credit beyond the limits established by the Commission. The Commission is hereby authorized to promulgate the extension of credit by processors or

(7) The furnishing by a processor or a distributor of a sign outside of a retailer's place of business which all-ocates more than one-third (1/3) of the space of the sign to the advertise-ment of the processor or distributor, or of such sign which in any event exceed such amount as the Commission may by regulation determine.

Two Killed in Interstate 40 Collision

NORTH LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Two persons were killed when four vehicles collided Monday night on Interstate 40, one-half mile north of the Crystal Hill exit near North Little Rock.

The victims were identified as Otis Tarkington, 39, of Conway and Herman L. Helton, 26, of North Little Rock.

Officers said Tarkington was eastbound in his pickup truck

Court Rules Against Republicans

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Circuit Court Judge Warren Wood dismissed a suit Monday challenging the appointment of three members of county election commissions in three counties.

Wood said in his decision that the Republican party had not offered sufficient proof that the three could not "represent" the GOP.

The three were appointed to the election commissions in Faulkner, Conway and Prairie counties by the state Board of Election Commissioners, which is dominated by the Democrats.

"I am unable to hold that they (the appointees) are not fit for one reason or another to represent the Republican party," Wood said. He said he understood that the three persons must represent the GOP and name Republicans to a majority of the judges and clerks positions in the general election.

"If these gentlemen don't do that, in my opinion they will have shirked their duty," Wood said.

The state board named Bill Clifton as the third member in Conway County, Vernon Harrod in Faulkner County and Roger R. Farris in Prairie. The three Republican members of the 9-member board selected R. J. Mobley in Conway, Bill Johnson in Faulkner and David Bowen in Prairie.

Several persons testified that Clifton, Harrod and Farris could not represent the Republican party because of previous connections with the Democratic party.

Faver H. Wilson of Conway said Harrod told him six years ago "he could not support a Republican." Wilson said Harrod made the statement after he asked Harrod to vote for him in a House race.

"In all candor and all fairness . . . the strength of his (Wilson's) testimony is a Democrat who could not support a Republican. I take it this means actually vote," Wood said.

"This proof that I have heard this afternoon is not sufficient for me to rule these men not capable in regard to discharging a particular duty," Wood said.

John Thompson, who is running against Marlin Hawkins for sheriff in Conway County, said a bumper sticker on Clifton's car said "re-elect Marlin sheriff." He also said Clifton had long-time ties with the Democratic party.

In the westbound lane of the interstate when he collided head-on with Helton's car, which was thrown into the path of a tractor-trailer truck and was then struck by another vehicle.

Tarkington was killed instantly, officers said. Helton died en route to a Little Rock hospital. No one else was hurt.

Should Have Left Clancy on the Beat

By HARRY MOSKOW
Associated Press Writer
HONOLULU (AP) — "When they took Clancy, or whatever name you give him, off the beat we started to lose a little bit in communication between the policeman and the neighborhood," says Police Chief Henry E. Lux, of Memphis, Tenn.

Lux's view reflects the concern over deteriorating police-community relations shown by law enforcement officials today at the 75th annual conference of the International Association of Chiefs of Police.

A hopeful note came from Lux, who added that "the trend is going back the other way now and beat men are back on the job to re-establish with the people."

Most officials agree with U.S. Atty. Gen. Ramsey Clark who said in a talk Monday that police-community relations are the "most difficult and important law enforcement problem" of the decade.

While agreeing with Clark, many chiefs said in interviews they felt police have become the victims in deteriorating community relations simply because they represent constituted authority or the "establishment."

"Social ills and economic ills are the base of the problem," Lux says. "The public may not be against the police directly but we just happen to be the representatives of the establishment."

The sheriff of Los Angeles County, Peter Pitchess, feels permissiveness has aided the problem.

"This permissiveness has led to a disrespect for any constituted authority," the sheriff said.

"There has been great emphasis during the past few years placed on community-police relations, but it mostly has been on the side of law enforcement," he added. "Police try to relate to the community, but the community is not relating to law enforcement. Cooperation is not unilateral, it's bilateral."

Roscoe Bobo, city councilman from Ecorse, Mich., and a former assistant police chief of that city, believes the gap in the relations came about as "a gradual growing fear among people because of a few policemen abused their authority."

Leo A. Culloc, executive secretary of the New Jersey Police Training Commission, felt the question of police-community relations is only a byproduct of the real problem.

"The major problem is the screening, selecting and training of officers," Leo said. "We have to eliminate those who are not fit for a policeman's job."

Arthur Outlaw, police commissioner for Mobile, Ala., also feels training is essential before police will have a better image. "The pendulum is beginning to swing back in favor of the police," Outlaw said. "If we enforce the law equally among all ethnic groups we'll have the respect we deserve."

stopped the bombing of North Vietnam.

"I have now said that I would take that risk, for peace," he went on, saying that "The Soviet Union has major responsibility for seeing that Hanoi does not show bad faith, that they negotiate frankly, forthrightly, to bring an end to the war in Vietnam."

"As soon as the bombing stops," the vice president said, "I will call upon the Soviets to show that they can also act for peace. Let them call upon Hanoi to start negotiating seriously."

Turning to the Middle East, Humphrey renewed his pledge to supply Phantom aircraft and other weapons to Israel to help maintain its security but stressed the need for an end to the arms race by all countries supplying the Middle East.

He said that any Middle Eastern agreement must be based on these six points:

1. Acceptance of the existence of Israel by all of its neighbors.
2. Transformation of all boundaries into agreed, secure frontiers.
3. Free navigational rights for Israel in all international waters, including the Suez Canal and the Gulf of Aqaba.
4. An end to the arms race.
5. Help from what he termed "the international community" in solving the Arab refugee problem.
6. Use of Middle East resources for human and economic development.

On his way back from Pennsylvania, Humphrey told reporters he plans his second nationally televised campaign speech this Saturday night, on the subject of law and order, with a third speech on economic policy scheduled later.

Too Many Politicians, Bernard Says

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Charles T. Bernard of Earle, the Republican candidate for the U.S. Senate seat held by J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Monday that there are "too many politicians and not enough concerned Americans" serving in Congress.

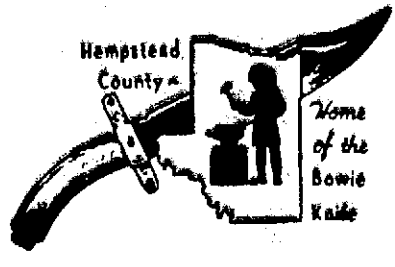

He also said that too much emphasis had been put on legislative experience in his race against Fulbright. Bernard made the comments Monday during the taping of Arkansas State Jaycees Present, which will be telecast Thursday night on KATV.

"I also think it's relevant that Mr. Fulbright went from the presidency of the University of Arkansas to the halls of Congress without any legislative experience," Bernard said.

Bernard also took issue with the contention that Fulbright's presence had greatly benefited Arkansas. He said many of the good things that Arkansas had received in recent years resulted from the influence of Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., and "he will still be there when I get there."

Letter From a Lake-Side
Acquaintance

When I was on Lake Taneycomo, Missouri, the week before Labor Day I came down to the Blue Haven Resort dock one morning expecting to shove off promptly and scout some picture locations — but I said "Good Morning" to a stranger who was preparing to fish . . . and it delayed both of us an hour.

The other guest was Chester J. Emmerling of Chicago, and conversation developed the fact that Mr. Emmerling was a veteran offset pressman while I owned an offset newspaper we completely forgot the lake and pictures and fishing — and talked "shop."

You have lots to learn from a veteran in any industry. We're completing our third year in offset, but Mr. Emmerling has spent a lifetime on the precision offset presses of a Chicago commercial printer. I told him I would send copies of our editions carrying pictures and accounts of Lake Taneycomo, and I did so.

He got them, and wrote me a letter dated Sept. 27. A good deal of it is a tribute to our Southwestern country and its climate. Here are some excerpts:

"Your editorials on Lake Taneycomo were fine. They certainly made me wish I was back there again. We spent a few days looking over land in that area with the intention of buying and retelling in the future."

"Both my wife and I like the Arkansas and southern Missouri section of the country better than any we have seen yet. We like it because it has four seasons and yet the winters aren't too long and cold like Wisconsin and Minnesota and the Summers too hot like Arizona and New Mexico. It has mountains and lakes and flat areas and just about everything you could ask for in the way of scenery. We came up Route 7 from Texarkana (Ed. Note: Probably meaning 67 to Arkadelphia and 7 through Hot Springs and Harrison to Branson, Mo.) and were very impressed with its beauty."

"Also, with transportation and communications being so advanced all the area really needs is some hustling public officials to get it affre. Figuratively, of course."

"We intend to travel Arkansas and Missouri again soon and perhaps will get to your town. Best regards"

Autos Burn in Wreck, Five Hurt

Two autos collided about six miles east of Hope on Highway 67 early last night, leaving five persons injured, none seriously, and both vehicles burned.

A singing group from Nashville, Tenn., were in one auto and Ray Glass of Texarkana was alone in the second vehicle. He sustained a cut on the head and was kept in a local hospital overnight.

The singers, Jimmy Richards, driver; Dorius Lee Spurgeon, Rogers Long and David Wayne Gray, all suffered minor injuries and one a broken arm. They were treated and released.

State Policeman Wallace Martin said the collision occurred when the car driven by Richards attempted to pass another in a no passing zone. He was charged with passing in a no passing zone. Both vehicles caught fire and burned. A Hope Fire truck was called to the scene to put out the burning cars.

Jan Lewis, 10 Succumbs to Injuries

Rita Jan Lewis, 10, of Sulphur, Okla., died Monday in a Texarkana hospital from injuries received in a highway accident Oct. 2 on U.S. 67 near Fulton.

Her mother and twin sister were also killed in the accident as was Mrs. Sissy Thurman, 30, of Bryan, Texas, the world champion barrel racer.

Her father, Robert Lewis, critically injured in the accident, is in satisfactory condition in Wadley Hospital in Texarkana. He suffered a chest injury and six fractured ribs.

The accident occurred when a camper pickup truck struck a trailer-tractor which had overturned on the Highway moments before. Driver of the east-bound trailer-tractor, Walter Stanley of Bryant, Ark., had struck two cows and the vehicle overturned. He was not seriously hurt.

A camper pickup pulling two horses and driven by Lewis was unable to avoid the overturned truck.

The victims were returning from a rodeo performance at the Arkansas Livestock Exhibition in Little Rock when the accident occurred.

Hershey Says Remark Was Misinterpreted

CONWAY, Ark. (AP) — Lt. Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, director of the Selective Service, said Monday that a remark he made during the summer that he "could work" with third party presidential candidate George C. Wallace had been misinterpreted as an endorsement.

He said Monday he had not endorsed Wallace and that he doubted whether "anyone would want my endorsement."

Hershey, 75, made the remarks in response to a question by a Hendrix College student.

Lloyd Unverferth, leader of a group protesting the war in Vietnam, said some students passed out black armbands to about 90 others. He said the protest was not aimed at the Selective Service system.

Hershey's audience respond with vigorous applause for his speech.

He said that the current draft system is a product of human judgment and "when you have human judgment you are going to have all the errors of human judgment."

He added, in response to a question, that a draft by lottery would not provide immunity to persons eligible for the draft.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court's 1968-69 term opened with an unusual burst of activity and some bad news for 256 soldiers: the Army can send them to Vietnam.

Forgoing the tradition of a brief but uneventful starting session, the justices Monday heard a lawyer for George C. Wallace plead for a place on Ohio's presidential ballot Nov. 5.

Then, after a late afternoon conference, they dissolved an order by Justice William O. Douglas that had blocked the Tolber Corporation, Hope, Arkansas, manufacturer of vinyl plastisols, has acquired the assets of American Research and Development Company, San Angelo, Texas, known in the trade as Aradco. Aradco manufactures small, inexpensive molding machines, for many different economical applications of plastisols.

The announcement was made by Robert J. Huber, president of Michigan Chrome and Chemical Company, Detroit, of which Tolber Corporation is a subsidiary. Michigan Chrome also manufactures plastisols and powdered resins.

Headquarters of Aradco will move to Hope, Arkansas. R. L. Keith will continue as general manager of Aradco Division of Tolber.

Clyde E. Foure has been elected vice president of Tolber Corporation and will continue as general manager. Donald Mushare has been transferred to Tolber as director of development and technical service, according to Huber.

Four Texans Killed in Spa Plane Crash

HOT SPRINGS, Ark. (AP) — Four Wichita Falls, Tex., men were killed Monday when their single-engine plane hit a power line and crashed while approaching Hot Springs municipal airport.

Authorities said the victims were Larry Robinson, Donald Harris, George B. Cox and Frank B. Stewart. The Cessna Skylark was registered to Robinson.

Army from sending the soldiers to Vietnam.

The 256 men — 113 at Ft. Meade, Md., and 143 at Ft. Lee, Va. — are reservists who were mobilized under a 1966 law.

They claimed their enlistment contract required a congressional declaration of war or of national emergency for mobilization.

Douglas agreed, but was outvoted 8 to 1. The soldiers can file formal appeals, but by then they will be in the war zone.

In spite of court's action, attorneys for a California National Guard unit filed suit in Tacoma, Wash., alleging a call to active duty during last May's Pueblo crisis was illegal.

Noting Monday's Supreme Court ruling, the attorneys said they were going ahead because their case is broader and involves more issues.

Proposes Summit Conferences

By CARL P. LEUBSDORF
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey proposed today scheduled annual working summit conferences between the United States and the Soviet Union.

Such meetings, Humphrey said in a wide-ranging review of U.S.-Soviet relations, could become "forums for a new diplomacy, free of the publicity, free of the high expectations that surround irregular summit meetings."

The Democratic presidential nominee also urged the Soviet Union to call upon the North Vietnamese "to start negotiating seriously" at the Paris peace talks.

He also repeated a six-point formula for settlement of Middle East problems and pledged that "I shall be a peace president."

His speech was prepared for a luncheon session of the United Press International Editors and Publishers conference. His two rivals, Richard M. Nixon and George C. Wallace, addressed the conference Monday.

Humphrey returned to Washington late Monday after what he termed a good day of campaigning in Pennsylvania, where he drew enthusiastic responses to a series of sharp attacks on Nixon in speeches at Erie, Wilkes-Barre and Scranton.

Speaking before an overflow crowd of more than 5,000 in the University of Scranton Field House, Humphrey renewed the charge that Nixon is afraid to debate him and said the GOP candidate is being very careful this year.

Humphrey said in his UPI speech that he has "no illusions" about the difficulty of dealing with the Soviet Union, because its totalitarian government is "still unresponsive to the needs and wishes of its people."

"We may sometimes fail," he said, "but we must not fail to try."

On Vietnam, Humphrey noted that the Soviets have pledged to "take steps to build a lasting peace . . . to influence Hanoi, as soon as the United States

New Cuts in Housing, Food Stamp Money

WASHINGTON (AP) — Administration food stamp and housing program requests face new slashes in the House on the heels of a near $1 billion congressional cut for housing aid and urban renewal projects.

The House Appropriations Committee has recommended a $50 million slice off the food stamp program in a money bill up for action today, plus cuts in two housing programs and a juvenile delinquency project.

The House was expected to go along with the committee cuts.

President Johnson Monday signed the appropriation that knocked nearly $1 billion off his urban renewal and rent subsidies requests, the $14.57 billion appropriation for the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

Congress cut a requested advance $1.3 billion for urban renewal projects in the next fiscal year to $750 million; a $1 billion model cities request to $625 million, and a $65 million contract authority request for rent subsidies to $30 million.

The new cuts were recommended by the Appropriations Committee Monday in a bill that was cut to $101 million from the administration's request for $270 million.

The committee's bill recommends appropriations of:

—$20 million rather than the requested $90 million for the food stamp program that helps poor families get more food for their money. This would be in addition to the $225 million already appropriated for the program this fiscal year.

—$5 million to help pay interest costs on low-income housing construction, enough to cover contracts for $60 million worth of new housing. The administration asked $11.5 million to cover contracts for $150 million in construction.

—$1 million for enforcement of open-housing legislation rather than the $8 million requested by HUD. Another $300,000 sought by the Justice Department was completely eliminated.

—$5 million for a new program to aid states on control and prevention of juvenile delinquency. The administration asked $19.2 million.

A dozen money requests for other programs under the new housing-aid and open housing laws were cut out completely by the committee.

Power Firm Donates $50 to 4-H Group

This makes the twenty-second year Southwestern Electric Power Company has presented a $50.00 contribution to the Hempstead County 4-H Club Council.

Dean Atkins made the presentation to Calvin J. Caldwell on October 1.

Southwestern is pleased to make this annual contribution to each of the 4-A Club Councils in each county or parish in which the company operates, leaving to the discretion of the councils how the money will be used.

"We are honored to be associated with the 4-H Clubs, their leaders, and the people of the Extension Service and are proud of their efforts," said Mr. Atkins. "Their work has always been outstanding and the energy with which they attack problems exemplifies their motto, 'To Make the Best Better.' We sincerely hope that we shall be able to continue making investments in our youth. We know that the activity of this group is making a great contribution to the continued growth, progress and freedom of America."

Killed in Wreck Near Cabot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
CABOT, Ark. (AP) — Mrs. Sue S. Johnson, 34, of near Ward (Lonoke County) was killed Monday when her car ran off a bridge on Arkansas just west of Ward.

Ward is about five miles northeast of Cabot. Authorities said Mrs. Ward's three children were in the car, but escaped injury.

Officials Think Cong Will Attempt Big New Offensive in Fall

By BOB HORTON
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Military officers are weighing intelligence that indicates the enemy in Vietnam will try "something big" in the way of a new offensive before the end of the year.

Captured enemy officers have told interrogators in Vietnam they think their leaders in Hanoi would like to make a big splash in U.S. headlines about the time of the Nov. 5 election.

It is not clear to American military men exactly what Hanoi thinks might be accomplished if its troops were able to make a major psychological impact with new assaults around election day.

The U.S. judgment at this point is that enemy troops have little capability to stage another Tet-type offensive which surprised the allies last February.

For one thing, the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong main force units suffered heavily during the Tet holiday attacks and are still trying to reconstitute fighting outfits by robbing guerillas.

Would Halt Bombs If It Saved Lives

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer

BUFFALO, N.Y. (AP) — Richard M. Nixon says, that if elected president, he would not step up the bombing of North Vietnam — and might even halt it if it would result in less loss of American lives.

He also said he would seek broader negotiations on Vietnam and would stand for "a peace that was generous."

The Republican presidential candidate, who spent Monday night in Buffalo before flying to rallies today in Flint, Mich., and Minneapolis, discussed all aspects of Vietnam at greater than usual length Monday. His forum was a conference in Washington of publishers and editors, sponsored by United Press International.

Responding to questions, Nixon said that he would not raise the current limited level of bombing involving North Vietnam and expressed that view that "we should stop the bombing when whoever is president is convinced it will result in less American lives lost." He called that the key point and indicated he would weigh it carefully if elected.

The candidate, without elaborating, said, "I would broaden the diplomatic table to include more in the negotiations than

2-Day Fight Leaves 147 Enemy Dead

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer

SAIGON (AP) — American ground and air forces battled North Vietnamese troops along the northwestern approaches to Saigon and killed 147 of them in a two-day fight that raged on and off until just after noon today, the U.S. Command announced.

U.S. casualties were 8 men killed and 13 wounded in the battle with troops from the 101st North Vietnamese Army Regiment, an old adversary that long has operated in the area 28 miles northwest of Saigon. This is about midway between the Cambodian border and Saigon; along prime infiltration corridors leading into the capital.

While this was the heaviest fighting reported by both the U.S. and South Vietnamese commands, allied troops on massive ground sweeps up and down the country continued to uncover tons of enemy munitions, food and medical stockpiles apparently stashed away for future attacks.

U.S. officers claim that he seizure of more than 150 tons of war supplies in recent weeks has hurt the enemy and may delay, if not abort, some of his planned attacks.

In many cases, enemy prisoners and defectors have led the allied troops to the caches.

Military spokesmen said about 12 fresh stockpiles of war materials and food were turned up Monday from north of Saigon to the demilitarized zone, some of it buried in coffins.

Infantrymen from the U.S. 1st Division ran across a battalion enemy base camp four miles from the division headquarters and 20 miles north of Saigon. A search of the area turned up large quantities of supplies including 1,000 antipersonnel mines, 1,050 grenades, 87 bazooka-type rockets, 6 submachine guns and more than 1,000 pounds of medical equipment.

The developments came as U.S. officers weighed intelligence reports indicating the Communist Command may attempt "something big" in the way of a new offensive before the end of the year. Captured enemy officers are reported to have told interrogators they think Hanoi would like to make headlines about the time of the Nov. 5 U.S. presidential election.

The informant's comment that the main North Vietnamese divisions and regiments appear to be avoiding a fight appeared to be backed up by the weekly figures released by the South Vietnamese command.

Government headquarters said 1,654 enemy troops were killed during the seven-day period ending at midnight last Saturday. While this figure is subject to readjustment, it was the lowest weekly enemy toll reported in more than two months. It compared to 2,866 enemy claimed killed by allied forces the previous week and 3,380 two weeks ago.

First Ladies Greeted by 300 Here

Some 300 local women turned out last night to greet and hear Mrs. Winthrop Rockefeller and Mrs. Footsie Britt in a Republican rally in the Little District Livestock Show Coliseum.

The wife of the Governor told the group that government is big business. She cited achievements of her husband during his two years in office, particularly pointing to increased teachers salaries and anti-poverty programs. She made note of her husband's promise to investigate "gyp" insurance firms in the state and said now some of these firms are not in business.
